CHARLESTON, March 3, 1873. Col. B. H. Smith has been out two using his official position for a purpose that every one who reads this article can see at once is to vent his spleen on the pres-ent Sherifi of Ohio County, a position he days with his heavy buffalo overshoes, heavy overcoat and seal skin collar on, what time he could stand it to be out, looking for "blue birds and roses." It is ent Sherifl of Ohio County, a position he coveted long himself, but in vain. The proposition was so barefaced and unwarranted, that he accepted an amendment, allowing two percentum on all over forty thousand. Col. Saider, of Monongalia, gave the House to understand that the whole trouble originated from Dick Brown being a Republican. This rather quieted "that stage of the game," and the bill was passed to its third reading.

The following joint resolution was so little late in the season for them—they usually come in February. But the Col. is not to be defeated, and on his tramp around found some, but they evidently were collected in a climate bordering on the frigid zone, as they were in a chilly condition—not to say frozen. The tem-perature of the weather here the last forty eight hours has been very low—the coldest of the season. The natives all passed to-day:

the part of the Senate and five on the say it has been an extraordinary hard er, and has led to such dissatisfaction that the Hon. McMillan, from Doddridge, is talking of introducing a bill to change the "ground-hog day" from February 2d to December 2d, in order to have "perenpart of the House, be appointed to make the necessary arrangements for the inac-turation of the Governor on the 4th of March, instant: Messrs. Eastham, Sher-red and Bishop of the Senate, and Floyd, Triplett, Devers, Shirley and White of

It has cozed out recently, that the enemies of Gov. I should not be surprised that if the raising of this Committee is looking in that direction. What a machine the "un. terrified" expect to make out of the At-torney General, can only be told by the perplexing questions that are proposed to e referred to him; but it is generally suceded that Mr. Matthews is rather an independent man, and will not be spt to tollow the dictation of the moss covered gentlemen who stro not satisfied with the present status of our Congressional electrical stat

There was a regular confession (after the minister had left) to-day in the Senate over the passage or adoption of the report of the contenence committee on the jury bill. A motion was made to reconsider, and on that motion two or three Senators made their contession of ignorance as to what it really contained. Up to the hour of adjournment the motion did not prevail, so you see it, and in the protest against this assumption.—Cincinnal Engourer. did not prevail, so you see the situation is semething, like this—now you see at, and now you don't see it. Meanwhile Mr. Legg was at home and came back opposed to it, and moved its indefinite post-ponement. Mr. Fleming, who is a Republican, seemed to have strong instructions to get the bill passed from men of all parties.
